

I think the Localism Task Force is a good idea in theory, but I think for it to work, radio stations and other forms of media are going to have to be strictly held to the same standards.